

Stainless Steel cookware Aston Series

High-quality stainless steel cookware with an original and practical design which makes you joyful about cooking. Aston Steel Cookware series is made of high-grade stainless steel 18/10 with increased wall thickness and reinforced induction bottom. This makes our product entirely different from a commercially available stainless steel cookware on the market.

Unlike traditional dishes stainless steel Aston Steel series has a really unique and elegant design and it is suitable for men and women of all ages. Moreover, it is equipped with a very popular soft-touch handle that provides a stable, comfortable handling.

This series was presented in Germany, Spain, Poland, Italy, Turkey and Hong Kong, and was received with a very positive response, and we are confident that the same will be found within our customers.

During the production of this series, we did not forget about the practical improvements of pans and we equipped them with superior non-stick ETERNA coating. This technology is made by American company Whitford and it is characterized by its the long-term live in the world.
